Join us for Maryland's first ever state-wide Farm to School Workshop on Wednesday, July 29, 2009 from 9 am - 3:30 pm, at Indian Creek Upper School, Crownsville Rd. & Hawkins Rd., Crownsville, MD. Maryland farmers, food service staff, parents, teachers, and interested citizens can collaborate toward growing healthier children and a healthier economy and environment. See the new, improved website and plan for the second Maryland Homegrown School Lunch Week, plus other initiatives to expand children's healthy eating and strengthen the local economy.

- Doug Davis - Vermont Farm to School
- Tegan Hagy - The Food Trust / National Farm to School Network
- Maryland leaders in school gardens, procurement partnerships, parent and student initiatives including photography and cooking contests, and how you can be involved.

To register, go to www.mdfarmentoschool.org, or register by email, regular mail or fax. Early registration by July 15, 2009 is $25; later is $35. Early registration guarantees your locally prepared lunch! Space is limited - watch for your confirmation with directions by email.
